Programme

The 2020 programme for NICS Belfast will be published in late March. Please refer back to the website for news, updates and more information.

In order to get the most out of your NICS Live experience you should aim to attend a mix of plenary sessions and seminar/workshop sessions. Make sure you also leave time to network with colleagues, meet with old friends and visit the exhibition space, where many departments and strategic partners will be showcasing their projects and best practice.
