FDA

The FDA is a professional association and union, representing more than 18,000 of the UK's senior public servants and professionals across Government and the NHS.

The FDA provides members with professional advice, support and representation. We are there when our members need us. The FDA is the voice for public service senior managers and professionals to promote and protect their interests, influencing policy on their behalf.

The FDA has a strong commitment to promoting diversity and equal opportunities, which underpins everything we do.
